

Scheduled Flights

At Aklak Air, we want to be more than the primary provider of scheduled air transportation in the western Arctic, we want to be your provider of choice. With that in mind, we are launching the final component of the Skyline Aviation Software, our On Line Reservation System. This upgrade in technology will enable us to provide you with the option to book flights on-line, deliver up-to-date information on the availability of seats and the timeliness of flights, and increase our capacity to provide the most reliable schedule flight service possible.

The anticipated launch date for on-line reservations is Fall of 2010. Once incorporated on our site, you will be able to book and confirm your seats on line, as well as by phone or in person. During the transition to on-line reservation capability, we anticipate that there may be some challenges and hiccups in the system. If you do encounter problems, we appreciate your patience. Throughout the process, we will strive to continue to provide dependable and efficient service. Our reservations team will be available to assist you with any problems you may encounter.

For information on or assistance using our on-line system, or to make a reservation, please contact us by phone at our toll free line (866) 707-4977 or by email at reservations@aklakair.ca.
